Caunton was involved with the building of a particularly large Tesco Extra store in Newport, Wales. This store was a replacement store, with the one, which previously existed being demolished. The new Tesco store was part of a major redevelopment of the Newport Retail Part District Centre at Spytty Road. The scheme provided an onsite replacement store of over 100,000sq.ft. The store was re-orientated to face towards the main body of the retail park and included 16 concession units, which strengthened the role of the District Centre.

The scheme achieved a BREEAM 'Very Good' rating and was one of Wales' most sustainable food stores.

Caunton designed, supplied and erected 1,750 tonnes of steelwork for main contractor, Vinci Construction.
